Proposed Class 26: Software – 3D printers

Item 3. Statement Regarding Proposed Exemption

3D printers can print other 3D printers so how the hell can you stop anyone from using a specific filament in a specific 3D printer if that printer prints another printer then does that printed printer still have the legal ramifications of not using the proper filament?

3D printers are OPEN SOURCE so there's NOTHING the copyright system can do about it so don't even bother trying.
