

I am a creator of numerous works and I believe that the proper way to handle abandoned or "orphaned" copyrighted works is to reduce their copyright term to the original period of fifteen years from the date of publication. This would be in line with the original intent of copyright, prior to its abuse by parties like Disney.

Signed,
Martin Espinoza
A resident of California